* NOTE.—From the commencement of the present year a new system of registration has been adopted for British Goods exported to certain Countries in transit for the purpose of being subsequently forwarded to other destinations. Instead of showing this indirect trade in Table III. A., as heretofore, the quantities and values of such goods are now placed to the account of the Countries for which they are ultimately intended, and it will be seen that, by an adjustment of the Accounts for the two preceding years, a correct comparison is arrived at in regard to the principal Articles and Countries of transit affected by the arrangement. Table III. A. has been discontinued.

* NOTE.—From the commencement of the present year a new system of registration has been adopted for British Goods exported to certain Countries in transit for the purpose of being subsequently forwarded to other destinations. Instead of showing this indirect trade in Table III. A., as heretofore, the quantities and values of such goods are now placed to the account of the Countries for which they are ultimately intended, and it will be seen that, by an adjustment of the Accounts for the two preceding years, a correct comparison is arrived at in regard to the principal Articles and Countries of transit affected by the arrangement.
Table III. A. has been discontinued.

* NOTE.—From the commencement of the present year a new system of registration has been adopted for British Goods exported to certain Countries in transit for the purpose of being subsequently forwarded to other destinations. Instead of showing this indirect trade in Table III. A., as heretofore, the quantities and values of such goods are now placed to the account of the Countries for which they are ultimately intended, and it will be seen that, by an adjustment of the Accounts for the two preceding years, a correct comparison is arrived at in regard to the principal Articles and Countries of transit affected by the arrangement. Table III. A. has been discontinued.

* NOTE.—From the commencement of the present year a new system of registration has been adopted for British Goods exported to certain Countries in transit for the purpose of being subsequently forwarded to other destinations. Instead of showing this indirect trade in Table III. A., as heretofore, the quantities and values of such goods are now placed to the account of the Countries for which they are ultimately intended, and it will be seen that, by an adjustment of the Accounts for the two preceding years, a correct comparison is arrived at in regard to the principal Articles and Countries of transit affected by the arrangement. Table III. A. has been discontinued.

IV.—AN ACCOUNT of the Quantities of certain Principal Articles of Imported Merchandise (subject to Duties of Customs) remaining in the Bonded Warehouses of the United Kingdom on the 30th April 1875, compared with the Quantities in Warehouse on the 30th April 1873 and 30th April 1874.

Note.—In order to show by comparison the effect of the altered system of registration described at page 49, the Values of the Principal Articles that were sent indirectly to their respective destinations in the Quarters ended 31 March 1873 and 1874, have been inserted in the above Account against the names of the Countries to which they refer; those marked "in Transit to other Destinations," show the extent to which the country was made the medium of conveyance, and the figures in italics, enclosed in brackets, represent the value of the goods received through other countries, thus assigning to each country its legitimate trade.

This adjustment applies only to the values of the Principal Articles exported, and to certain specified Countries, the records of the office not having been framed to show either the Articles or the Countries of minor importance; in succeeding years, however, the comparison will be perfect in all respects.

The figures in italics are not included in the totals, having been previously accounted for under the countries of transit.

* NOTE.—From the commencement of the present year a new system of registration has been adopted for British Goods exported to certain Countries in transit for the purpose of being subsequently forwarded to other destinations. Instead of showing this indirect trade in Table III. A., as heretofore, the quantities and values of such goods are now placed to the account of the Countries for which they are ultimately intended, and it will be seen that, by an adjustment of the Accounts for the two preceding years, a correct comparison is arrived at in regard to the principal Articles and Countries of transit affected by the arrangement. Table III. A. has been discontinued.

IV.—AN ACCOUNT of the Quantities of certain Principal Articles of Imported Merchandise (subject to Duties of Customs) remaining in the Bonded Warehouses of the United Kingdom on the 30th June 1875, compared with the Quantities in Warehouse on the 30th June 1873 and 30th June 1874.

* Note.—From the commencement of the present year a new system of registration has been adopted for British Goods exported to certain Countries in transit for the purpose of being subsequently forwarded to other destinations. Instead of showing this indirect trade in Table III. A., as heretofore, the quantities and values of such goods are now placed to the account of the Countries for which they are ultimately intended, and it will be seen that, by an adjustment of the Accounts for the two preceding years, a correct comparison is arrived at in regard to the principal Articles and Countries of transit affected by the arrangement Table III. A. has been discontinued

Note.—In order to show by comparison the effect of the altered system of registration described at page 49, the Values of the Principal Articles that were sent indirectly to their respective destinations in the Quarters and Six Months ended 30 June 1873 and 1874, have been inserted in the above Account against the names of the Countries to which they refer; those marked "in Transit to other Destinations," show the extent to which the country was made the medium of conveyance, and the figures in italics, enclosed in brackets, represent the value of the goods received through other countries, thus assigning to each country its legitimate trade.

This adjustment applies only to the values of the Principal Articles exported, and to certain specified Countries, the records of the office not having been framed to show either the Articles or the Countries of minor importance; in succeeding years, however the comparison will be perfect in all respects.

The figures in italics are not included in the totals, having been previously accounted for under the countries of transit.

* Note.—From the commencement of the present year a new system of registration has been adopted for British Goods exported to certain Countries in transit for the purpose of being subsequently forwarded to other destinations. Instead of showing this indirect trade in Table III. A., as heretofore, the quantities and values of such goods are now placed to the account of the Countries for which they are ultimately intended, and it will be seen that, by an adjustment of the Accounts for the two preceding years, a correct comparison is arrived at in regard to the principal Articles and Countries of transit affected by the arrangement Table III. A. has been discontinued.

* Note.—From the commencement of the present year a new system of registration has been adopted for British Goods exported to certain Countries in transit for the purpose of being subsequently forwarded to other destinations. Instead of showing this indirect trade in Table III. A., as heretofore, the quantities and values of such goods are now placed to the account of the Countries for which they are ultimately intended, and it will be seen that, by an adjustment of the Accounts for the two preceding years, a correct comparison is arrived at in regard to the principal Articles and Countries of transit affected by the arrangement. Table III. A. has been discontinued.

* Note.—From the commencement of the present year a new system of registration has been adopted for British Goods exported to certain Countries in transit for the purpose of being subsequently forwarded to other destinations. Instead of showing this indirect trade in Table III. A., as heretofore, the quantities and values of such goods are now placed to the account of the Countries for which they are ultimately intended, and it will be seen that, by an adjustment of the Accounts for the two preceding years, a correct comparison is arrived at in regard to the principal Articles and Countries of transit affected by the arrangement Table III. A. has been discontinued.

Note.—In order to show by comparison the effect of the altered system of registration described at page 49, the Values of the Principal Articles that were sent indirectly to their respective destinations in the Quarters and Nine Months ended 30 September 1873 and 1874, have been inserted in the above Account against the names of the Countries to which they refer; those marked "in Transit to other Destinations," show the extent to which the Country was made the medium of conveyance, and the figures in italics, enclosed in brackets, represent the value of the goods received through other Countries, thus assigning to each Country its legitimate trade.

This adjustment applies only to the values of the Principal Articles exported, and to certain specified Countries, the records of the office not having been framed to show either the Articles or the Countries of minor importance; in succeeding years, however, the comparison will be perfect in all respects.

The figures in italics are not included in the totals, having been previously accounted for under the Countries of transit.

* NOTE.—From the commencement of the present year a new system of registration has been adopted for British Goods exported to certain Countries in transit for the purpose of being subsequently forwarded to other destinations. Instead of showing this indirect trade in Table III. A., as heretofore, the quantities and values of such goods are now placed to the account of the Countries for which they are ultimately intended, and it will be seen that, by an adjustment of the Accounts for the two preceding years, a correct comparison is arrived at in regard to the principal Articles and Countries of transit affected by the arrangement. Table III. A. has been discontinued.

* NOTE.—From the commencement of the present year a new system of registration has been adopted for British Goods exported to certain Countries in transit for the purpose of being subsequently forwarded to other destinations. Instead of showing this indirect trade in Table III. A., as heretofore, the quantities and values of such goods are now placed to the account of the Countries for which they are ultimately intended, and it will be seen that, by an adjustment of the Accounts for the two preceding years, a correct comparison is arrived at in regard to the principal Articles and Countries of transit affected by the arrangement. Table III. A. has been discontinued.
